WE ARE PREDICTING THE UNPREDICTABLE.

At Mayo Clinic, we are innovating every day to make the future better for everyone.

Our experts are leveraging new technology in many groundbreaking ways, such as exploring the potential for artificial intelligence to help clinicians predict a patient's pain management needs after surgery which can help minimize their reliance on opioids.

In cardiology, we're using a new innovative energy source called pulsed field ablation (PFA) to safely and successfully treat a common type of heart arrhythmia.

In early cancer detection, our experts recently completed a study that uncovered genetic cancer risks in 550 patients — a breakthrough that could help expand genetic screening nationwide and change the course of many lives.
